PULLMAN PHOTOGRAPHS

ALPHABETICAL LISTING BY RAILROAD

Revised Edition January 1990

PULLMAN PHOTOGRAPH COLLECTION

In 1969 Pullman-Standard gave the Smithsonian Institution 13,000 glass and film negatives covering railroad cars produced at the firm's main plant in Pullman, Illinois (Chicago). The negatives date between about 1888 and 1932, with a few scattered negatives dating as late as the 1950s. Pullman retained the great majority of the post-1932 negatives for its own records.

Gaps and unexplainable voids exist in the negatives received. Many exterior views are missing. However, the surviving negatives provide a reasonably complete record of the some 45,000 passenger cars built at the Pullman car works.

The following lists have been prepared as a guide to the collection; I - Passenger Cars, Alphabetical Listing by Railroad; II - Pullman Company; III - Private Cars; IV - Street Railway and Rapid Transit; V - Freight Cars; VI - Supplement (mostly prints with few negatives of them available).

Complete identification of all negatives was not possible. In some instances the spelling of car names or ownership remains in question. All unidentified views have been listed under Pullman. Pullman-owned cars are listed in the Pullman Company list; however, assigned cars may be inadvertently included in the Railroad list. Similarly, cars for subsidiary lines, like the Michigan Central, may be listed under both the Michigan Central and the parent New York Central. These lists are admittedly a provisional guide. The present editions of these lists were produced in 1990.

Sorry, but we have no drawings or floor plans, nor can we trace subsequent histories of individual cars. In certain instances Pullman Technology, 16412 Lathrop Avenue, Harvey, Illinois 60426 can provide drawings. They also have the post-1932 photos.

Some mechanical drawings for Pullman cars are available from the Illinois Railway Museum, P.O. Box 431, Union, Illinois 60180.

THE PULLMAN COMPANY

Revised 1990

PULLMAN PHOTOGRAPH COLLECTION

In 1969 Pullman-Standard gave the Smithsonian Institution 13,000 glass and film negatives covering railroad cars produced at the firm's main plant in Pullman, Illinois (Chicago). The negatives date between about 1888 and 1932, with a few scattered negatives dating as late as the 1950s. Pullman retained the great majority of the post-1932 negatives for its own records.

Gaps and unexplainable voids exist in the negatives received. Many exterior views are missing. However, the surviving negatives provide a reasonably complete record of the some 45,000 passenger cars built at the Pullman car works.

The following lists have been prepared as a guide to the collection; I - Passenger Cars, Alphabetical Listing by Railroad; II - Pullman Company; III - Private Cars; IV - Street Railway and Rapid Transit; V - Freight Cars; VI - Supplement (mostly prints with few negatives of them available).

Complete identification of all negatives was not possible. In some instances the spelling of car names or ownership remains in question. All unidentified views have been listed under Pullman. Pullman-owned cars are listed in the Pullman Company list; however, assigned cars may be inadvertently included in the Railroad list. Similarly, cars for subsidiary lines, like the Michigan Central, may be listed under both the Michigan Central and the parent New York Central. These lists are admittedly a provisional guide. The present editions of these lists were produced in 1990.

Sorry, but we have no drawings or floor plans, nor can we trace subsequent histories of individual cars. In certain instances Pullman Technology, 16412 Lathrop Avenue, Harvey, Illinois 60426 can provide drawings. They also have the post-1932 photos.

Some mechanical drawings for Pullman cars are available from the Illinois Railway Museum, P.O. Box 431, Union, Illinois 60180.

PRIVATE CARS

Revised 1990

PULLMAN PHOTOGRAPH COLLECTION

In 1969 Pullman-Standard gave the Smithsonian Institution 13,000 glass and film negatives covering railroad cars produced at the firm's main plant in Pullman, Illinois (Chicago). The negatives date between about 1888 and 1932, with a few scattered negatives dating as late as the 1950s. Pullman retained the great majority of the post-1932 negatives for its own records.

Gaps and unexplainable voids exist in the negatives received. Many exterior views are missing. However, the surviving negatives provide a reasonably complete record of the some 45,000 passenger cars built at the Pullman car works.

The following lists have been prepared as a guide to the collection; I - Passenger Cars, Alphabetical Listing by Railroad; II - Pullman Company; III - Private Cars; IV - Street Railway and Rapid Transit; V - Freight Cars; VI - Supplement (mostly prints with few negatives of them available).

Complete identification of all negatives was not possible. In some instances the spelling of car names or ownership remains in question. All unidentified views have been listed under Pullman. Pullman-owned cars are listed in the Pullman Company list; however, assigned cars may be inadvertently included in the Railroad list. Similarly, cars for subsidiary lines, like the Michigan Central, may be listed under both the Michigan Central and the parent New York Central. These lists are admittedly a provisional guide. The present editions of these lists were produced in 1990.

Sorry, but we have no drawings or floor plans, nor can we trace subsequent histories of individual cars. In certain instances Pullman Technology, 16412 Lathrop Avenue, Harvey, Illinois 60426 can provide drawings. They also have the post-1932 photos.

Some mechanical drawings for Pullman cars are available from the Illinois Railway Museum, P.O. Box 431, Union, Illinois 60180.

PULLMAN PHOTOGRAPHS

STREET CARS AND RAPID TRANSIT

Revised January 1990

PULLMAN PHOTOGRAPH COLLECTION

In 1969 Pullman-Standard gave the Smithsonian Institution 13,000 glass and film negatives covering railroad cars produced at the firm's main plant in Pullman, Illinois (Chicago). The negatives date between about 1888 and 1932, with a few scattered negatives dating as late as the 1950s. Pullman retained the great majority of the post-1932 negatives for its own records.

Gaps and unexplainable voids exist in the negatives received. Many exterior views are missing. However, the surviving negatives provide a reasonably complete record of the some 45,000 passenger cars built at the Pullman car works.

The following lists have been prepared as a guide to the collection; I - Passenger Cars, Alphabetical Listing by Railroad; II - Pullman Company; III - Private Cars; IV - Street Railway and Rapid Transit; V - Freight Cars; VI - Supplement (mostly prints with few negatives of them available).

Complete identification of all negatives was not possible. In some instances the spelling of car names or ownership remains in question. All unidentified views have been listed under Pullman. Pullman-owned cars are listed in the Pullman Company list; however, assigned cars may be inadvertently included in the Railroad list. Similarly, cars for subsidiary lines, like the Michigan Central, may be listed under both the Michigan Central and the parent New York Central. These lists are admittedly a provisional guide. The present editions of these lists were produced in 1990.

Sorry, but we have no drawings or floor plans, nor can we trace subsequent histories of individual cars. In certain instances Pullman Technology, 16412 Lathrop Avenue, Harvey, Illinois 60426 can provide drawings. They also have the post-1932 photos.

Some mechanical drawings for Pullman cars are available from the Illinois Railway Museum, P.O. Box 431, Union, Illinois 60180.

PULLMAN PHOTOGRAPH COLLECTION

In 1969 Pullman-Standard gave the Smithsonian Institution 13,000 glass and film negatives covering railroad cars produced at the firm's main plant in Pullman, Illinois (Chicago). The negatives date between about 1888 and 1932, with a few scattered negatives dating as late as the 1950s. Pullman retained the great majority of the post-1932 negatives for its own records.

Gaps and unexplainable voids exist in the negatives received. Many exterior views are missing. However, the surviving negatives provide a reasonably complete record of the some 45,000 passenger cars built at the Pullman car works.

The following lists have been prepared as a guide to the collection; I - Passenger Cars, Alphabetical Listing by Railroad; II - Pullman Company; III - Private Cars; IV - Street Railway and Rapid Transit; V - Freight Cars; VI - Supplement (mostly prints with few negatives of them available).

Complete identification of all negatives was not possible. In some instances the spelling of car names or ownership remains in question. All unidentified views have been listed under Pullman. Pullman-owned cars are listed in the Pullman Company list; however, assigned cars may be inadvertently included in the Railroad list. Similarly, cars for subsidiary lines, like the Michigan Central, may be listed under both the Michigan Central and the parent New York Central. These lists are admittedly a provisional guide. The present editions of these lists were produced in 1990.

Sorry, but we have no drawings or floor plans, nor can we trace subsequent histories of individual cars. In certain instances Pullman Technology, 16412 Lathrop Avenue, Harvey, Illinois 60426 can provide drawings. They also have the post-1932 photos.

Some mechanical drawings for Pullman cars are available from the Illinois Railway Museum, P.O. Box 431, Union, Illinois 60180.

PULLMAN PHOTOGRAPH COLLECTION

In 1969 Pullman-Standard gave the Smithsonian Institution 13,000 glass and film negatives covering railroad cars produced at the firm's main plant in Pullman, Illinois (Chicago). The negatives date between about 1888 and 1932, with a few scattered negatives dating as late as the 1950s. Pullman retained the great majority of the post-1932 negatives for its own records.

Gaps and unexplainable voids exist in the negatives received. Many exterior views are missing. However, the surviving negatives provide a reasonably complete record of the some 45,000 passenger cars built at the Pullman car works.

The following lists have been prepared as a guide to the collection: I & II - Passenger Cars by Railroad (a two part list; A-M and N-Z); III - Pullman Cars; IV - Private Cars (with an index to business cars); V - Pullman Cars by Name; VI - Street Railway and Rapid Transit; VII - Freight Cars.

Complete identification of all negatives was not possible. In some instances the spelling of car names or ownership remains in question. All unidentified views have been listed under Pullman. Pullman-owned cars are listed in the Pullman list; however, assigned cars may be inadvertently included in the Railroad list. Similarly cars for subsidiary lines, like the Michigan Central, might be listed under both the Michigan Central and the parent New York Central. These lists are admittedly a provisional guide. We welcome corrections and hope to produce corrected editions at some future time.

Sorry, but we have no drawings or floor plans, nor can we trace subsequent histories of individual cars. In certain instances Pullman Technology, 16412 Lathrop Avenue, Harvey, Illinois 60426 can provide drawings. They also have the post-1932 photos.

Some mechanical drawings for Pullman cars are available from the Illinois Railway Museum, P.O. Box 431, Union, Illinois 60180.
