

Related Books, page 1 of 2

Featured Book

Follow the Drinking Gourd

by Jeanette Winter

The story of a group of slaves' escape on the underground railroad by following directions from the song "Follow the Drinking Gourd."

Topic: African American History, 19th-Century History

Age Group: Early Elementary (K-3)

Book Type: Fiction

Publisher: Dragonfly Books, 1998, New York, NY

Barefoot: Escape on the Underground Railroad

by Pamela Duncan Edwards

The story of a slave's escape on the underground railroad.

Topic: African American History, 19th-Century History

Age Group: Early Elementary (K-3)

Book Type: Fiction

Publisher: Harper Collins, 1997, New York, NY

If You Traveled on the Underground Railroad

by Ellen Levine

Informative children's book about the underground railroad.

Topic: African American History, 19th-Century History

Age Group: Early Elementary (K-3)

Book Type: Nonfiction

Publisher: Scholastic, 1993, New York, NY

Life on a Plantation

by Bobbie Kalman

A look at plantation life and its use of slavery.

Topics: African American History, 19th-Century History

Age Group: Late Elementary (4-6)

Book Type: Nonfiction

Publisher: Crabtree, 1997, New York, NY

Related Books, page 2 of 2

Minty: A Story of Young Harriet Tubman

by Alan Schroeder

A fictionalized account of the life of heroic Harriet Tubman.

Topic: African American History, Women's History, 19th-Century History

Age Group: Early Elementary (K-3)

Book Type: Fiction

Award: Coretta Scott King Award

Publisher: Puffin, 2000, New York, NY

Now Let Me Fly: The Story of a Slave Family

by Dolores Johnson

The story of a young African girl who is kidnapped and sold into slavery.

Topics: African American History, 19th-Century History

Age Group: Late Elementary (4-6)

Book Type: Fiction

Publisher: Aladdin, 1997, New York, NY

Pink and Say

by Patricia Polacco

An emotional Civil War story about two soldiers who become friends.

Topics: African American History, 19th-Century History

Age Group: Late Elementary (4-6)

Book Type: Fiction

Publisher: Philomel, 1994, New York, NY

Meet Addy

by Connie Porter

A young girl escapes slavery with her mother (from the American Girls Collection)

Topics: African American History, 19th-Century History

Age Groups: Early Elementary (1-3), Late Elementary (4-6)

Book Type: Fiction

Publisher: American Girls Publishing, Inc., 1993, Middleton, WI